1. Weather conditions and temperatures should be reported at least once in six hours by and recorded for at least one station on each division, preferably at a station where a telegraph office is maintained, and at junctions.
2. Each train dispatcher shall enter his name and record the time of going on and off duty in the space provided.
3. Train dispatchers will be held responsible for the correct time being used on their respective divisions.
4. The practice of men to mark in the clock book to whom and the hour when they receive the clock, must be strictly observed.
5. Telegraph offices reporting expiration shall be recorded, when practicable stop or meeting stations, both on the division to which the train belongs.
